Art Unit: 1616

Claims 62-73 and 75-81 are pending in this application which is a continuation of SN 09/830,194, which was been filed under 35 USC 371 as a national stage application of PCT/US99/26062, filed November 5, 1999, which claims the benefit of the November 5, 1998, filing date of Provisional US Application SN 60/107,255.

- Group I. Claims 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 75, 77, 79, and 81, drawn to a herbicide resistant rice plant, classified in class 800, subclass 320.2.
- Group II. Claims 63, 65, 67, 69, 76, 78, and 80, drawn to a process for controlling weeds around herbicide resistant rice plants, classified in class 504, various subclasses (depending on the herbicide).
- Group III. Claims 71-73, drawn to a process for imparting herbicide resistance to rice plants, classified in class 800, subclass 276.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons: Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the herbicidal control may be exerted using a different herbicidal compound; further, the rice plants may be used without herbicidal application.

Inventions I and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the process may be used to generate other herbicide resistant plants or to make rice plants that are resistant to other herbicides. Also, other more direct genetic manipulations may be carried out to insert the appropriate genes conferring herbicidal resistance to rice plants.

Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions have different functions (producing rice plant mutations vs. herbicidal application), different functions (production of new plant varieties vs.

These inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and because: 1) they have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, 2) the search required for each Group is not required for the others, and 3) they have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter. Thus, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: multiple herbicides to which either the recited rice plants are resistant, or which are used to control weeds around the recited rice plants.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, all claims are generic.

Art Unit: 1616

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to S. Mark Clardy whose telephone number is (703) 308-4550.
